

Assignment #5: Loving Someone Through Their Chart

1. Choose Someone to Focus On:

Select one person in your life whom you'd like to love or understand more deeply. It could be a friend, family member, partner, or anyone you feel drawn to support emotionally.

2. Study Their Natal Chart:

Take time to read their chart systematically. Look for placements that stand out to you. Consider focusing on:

- Venus: How they express love and value relationships.
- The Moon: Their emotional needs and inner world.
- Planets on the Angles (ASC, DSC, IC, MC): Key areas of life that define them.
- Any other aspect or pattern that speaks to you intuitively.

3. Choose One Loving Action:

Reflect on what you've learned. Based on your insights, decide on one thoughtful, intentional action you can take to express love or support. Be creative and considerate in choosing something that aligns with their unique energy and needs—kind of like picking the perfect gift that suits them.

4. Journal Reflection:

Write about your process:

- Who did you choose and why?
- What stood out to you in their chart?
- What action did you decide to take, and how does it connect to their chart?
- How do you feel this action might deepen your relationship or help them feel loved?

Assignment #5: The StarChronicle of a Destined Meeting

For your final assignment, reflect on someone who profoundly changed the course of your life for the better. This should feel like a meeting shaped by destiny. In your StarChronicle, explore the connection between your life and theirs through astrology.

1. Synastry Analysis:

- Examine their natal chart alongside yours.
- Identify significant aspects and placements in the synastry that stand out.
- What patterns or themes emerge? How do these placements reflect your connection or the way this person impacted your life?

2. Composite Chart (Optional):

- If you'd like, include the composite chart of your relationship.
- What does it reveal about the purpose or essence of your connection?

3. Transits on the Day You Met:

- Look at the transits to your synastry chart on the day you first met (or as close to this date as possible).
- Explore both the world transits and personal transits at the time.
- How do these transits align with the themes in your meeting? What story do they tell about the timing and significance of this encounter?

4. Weaving the Four Forms of Correspondence:

- Bring together all four layers: the natal charts, synastry, world transits, and personal transits.
- Craft a compelling and coherent story about your destined meeting. Use astrology as your lens to interpret this life-changing relationship.

Goals: This assignment integrates everything we've learned throughout the course, encouraging you to synthesize the tools of astrology into a narrative of personal meaning. Be thoughtful, detailed, and creative in your exploration.
